On weeks that say “No Live Online Classes”, students are still required to complete assignments. Students should first complete any assignments that are course requirements like:

- Assignments given during the previous week in live classes. The due date for these assignments will be during the next week that live classes are in session.
- Semester-long assignments (example: High School ELA has independent reading assignments that are due later in the semester)
- Requirements outside of Bridgeway
- All other alternate activities will be provided by the family and/or homeschool teacher

Please note: On weeks that say “OFF”, students may use that time to make up assignments, but they are not required to complete work as outlined above.
